

Here's What Wound Care Professionals Are Saying About The Heeler[®]

Hospitals

The necessity to relieve pressure on bony prominences of the body is a struggle that care-givers face everyday. The Heeler allows for pressure relief to the heels, thus helping to treat and prevent decubitus ulcers.

-From a medical facility in Chicago, IL

The Heeler is the only device I have found that prevents any breakdown on the foot following major leg surgery or trauma. Our orthopedic surgeons love it!

-From an R.N. at a hospital in Ridgecrest, CA

It is very difficult to keep patients' heels elevated on pillows. The pillows are easily displaced by patient movement. The pillows become flattened, leaving the patients' heels resting on a surface with enough pressure to cause skin breakdown. -From a hospital in Hammonton, NJ

Nursing Homes

Residents in long-term care facilities need pressure prevention techniques. The inflatable Heelers prevent skin breakdown and the formation of decubitus ulcers, stage I and stage II. -From a care facility in Tiburon, CA

I want to thank you for The Heeler. I recommend it as a superior product for the prevention and reduction of ulcers. -From a nursing home in Flemingsburg, KY

Physicians & Doctors of Podiatric Medicine

We use The Heeler exclusively. Simply putting a pillow under the foot or ankle does not work for several reasons:

1. Pillows tend to gravitate to one area, causing increased pressure.
2. Pillows compress under the weight of the foot.
3. The foot can easily slip off a pillow.
4. Use of a pillow confines the patient to sleep in one position all night. -From two DPMs in Sun City, AZ

Thanks for making such a simply great product. The Heeler is the only device I'm aware of that totally eliminates pressure and cannot cause another skin breakdown. -From a DPM in Bridgewater, NJ

The Heeler is very cost-effective and extremely easy to use. -From a physician in Raleigh, NC

"Pressure ulcers are a medical tragedy precipitated by four basic mechanisms: pressure, friction, shear and moisture.

"Elevate heels off the bed in patients at risk for heels ulcers--utilize heel elevators such as The Heeler, not pillows."
